The Law Regulating Newspapers and Periodicals.

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid; the subscribers are responsible for all the numbers sent.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their papers from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible till they have settled their bills, and ordered their papers discontinued.

American & Foreign Patents.

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington, (under the Act of 1837.)
76 State Street, opposite Kilby Street,
BOSTON.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with dispatch. Researches made into American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing Patents, of ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is more successful at the Patent Office than the subscriber; and as success is the best proof of advantages and ability, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents.

These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining Patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse."
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, on all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that is now pending. Such unmistakeable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges."
JOHN TAGGART.

During eight months, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor, by the Commissioner of Patents.

THE NEWYORK TRIBUNE.
LARGE PREMIUMS.
TO OUR FRIENDS.

Hitherto we have never offered any one a premium for helping to extend the circulation of THE TRIBUNE. We have printed the cheapest newspaper, considering the outlay by which it is produced, that was ever issued in any country, selling it for little more than the cost of the white paper; have employed no agents to canvass for subscribers, and have allowed no compensation, (beyond a copy of our paper) to any of the thousands of generous friends who have annually taken care that the number of copies of our several issues circulated in their respective neighborhoods should be at least maintained, and if possible increased. We have been sparing even of verbal thanks to these friends, but have none the less realized the fullness of our obligation for their earnest, unselfish, painstaking, persistent efforts.

We propose for the present season only—in view of the hardness of the times and the fact that we are enabled to buy white paper somewhat cheaper than we have hitherto done, or can hope to do after the close of the War—to make some small acknowledgment—not so much a recompense as a slight testimonial—to those friends who shall see fit to exert themselves to obtain subscriptions (whether original or renewals) to our Weekly and Semi-Weekly editions. We do not know that we could offer anything of similar value more generally acceptable and useful than a Gold Pen of the best quality and finish. We propose, therefore, to forward to each person who, during the two months ensuing, shall send us subscriptions and payments for THE TRIBUNE, as follows.

For $100 00,	Fifty Copies Semi-Weekly Tribune, to one address, and Pens or Pens and Cases, to value of	30 00

$2 25 each will be required in all cases where the Paper is to be addressed to each subscriber.

The Pens will be of the manufacture of A. Morton, whose make we are using, and we know them to be the best made. They will be furnished at the manufacturer's lowest prices. To choose as to the style and quality of Pens or Pens and Cases wanted for premiums, our friends are referred to the manufacturer's price list in The Tribune. See Advertisement headed "The Pen is Mightier than the Sword," and be particular and specify the number and quality of the Pens or Pens and Cases preferred.

Specimen copies of The Tribune sent when requested.

When Drafts can be obtained, it is much safer than to remit Bank Bills. The name of the Post Office and State should in all cases be plainly written.

IRON-CLAD STEAMERS.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
Washington, February 20, 1862.

THE Navy Department will, until the 24th of March next, receive propositions for the complete construction and equipment of iron-clad vessels for river, harbor and coast defence.

These vessels, with the exception of those for the Mississippi river and its tributaries, will be propelled by screws; those for the Mississippi river and tributaries may be propelled by paddle wheels.—The hulls will be either wholly of iron (which would be preferred) or of iron and wood combined, as the projectors may consider most suitable for the object proposed, but their sides and decks must be protected with an iron armament sufficient to resist the heaviest shot and shells.

The vessels for the Mississippi river and its tributaries are not to draw more than six feet water when fully equipped and armed, at which draft they are to be able to maintain a permanent speed of nine knots per hour in still water, and carry sufficient coal in the bunkers for six days steaming at that speed. Their armament will consist of not less than six eleven inch guns.

The vessels for harbor defence are not to draw more than twelve feet water when fully equipped and armed, at which draft they are to be able to maintain a permanent speed of ten knots per hour in smooth water, and carry sufficient coal in the bunkers for seven days steaming at that speed.—Their armament will consist of not less than from two to four eleven inch guns.

The vessels for coast defence are not to draw more than twenty feet water when fully equipped and armed, at which draft they are to be able to maintain a permanent speed of fifteen knots per hour at sea, and carry sufficient coal in the bunkers for twelve days steaming at that speed. Their armament will consist of one or two fifteen or twenty-inch guns.

The guns of the vessels for harbor and coast defence are to train to all points of the compass without change in the vessel's position.

The propositions must state the number of vessels, subject to the election of the Department, which the party proposes to furnish complete in every respect, embracing armour plating, steam machinery and equipments of all kinds, ready for service, excepting only the ordnance and ordnance stores and provisions; the proposition must be accompanied by descriptions, specifications, drawings, and models of such character that the work could be executed from them.

The place of delivery must be stated; the time within which the vessel or vessels are to be completed, and also the total sum to be paid for each.

It will be stipulated in the contract that one-fifth the total amount will be retained by the Government until sixty days after the reception of the vessel, in order to give it a trial, the remaining payments being made with due regard to the proper performance and progress of the work; the contract will also embrace forfeitures for failure to perform the conditions specified.

The bids must be accompanied by the guarantee required by law, that, if a contract is awarded, it will be promptly executed; and the names of the parties who are to become the sureties to the amount of the face of the contract will also be stated.

The Department will consider any other propositions that may be presented in which the draft of water above named is not exceeded.

The Department will be at liberty to accept or reject any or all the propositions. 2aw4w f27

Blackwood's Magazine,

BRITISH REVIEWS!
Great Inducements to Subscribers!
PREMIUMS AND REDUCTIONS!!

L. SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to publish the following leading British Periodicals, viz.:

1. The London Quarterly, (Conservative)
2. The Edinburgh Review, (Whig.)
3. The North British Review, (Free Church.)
4. The Westminster Review, (Liberal)
5. Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, (Tory)

The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the forthcoming year. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations and flying rumors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political interests of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events and as such, in addition to their well established literary, scientific and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

The receipt of Advance Sheets from the British publishers gives additional value to these Reprints, inasmuch as they can now be placed in the hands of subscribers about as soon as the original editions.

On tented field, 'mid fearful strife,
Still on! 'till through the sulphurous cloud
It broke in triumph Treason's shroud!

THE MODERN GREEK FIRE A correspondent of the Boston Post does not consider it contraband news to call attention to the probable use of the newly invented "Greek Fire," in the present war, and as likely to become the most formidable and destructive agent now known — The explosion of a shell filled with this material, not only exerts its ordinary force, but the enclosed combustible body is also scattered over a large area, ignited, and burns with unsubdued fury until entirely consumed Whatever body it touches, whether combustibles, men or horses, it assails with fatal power During the recent trip of the gunboat Saxon to Ship Island, four shells filled with the Greek Fire were thrown, some upon the enemy's shore, and others in the air Those thrown upon the land (a distance of about three miles) fired a large canebrake, which burnt with great fury, and was still on fire upon the return of the Saxon, five days later One of the shells exploded in the air, jetting a thousand streams of fire in all directions, and illuminating the sky and ocean with a novel and brilliant light The officer who managed the experiments says that the effect of the great sheets of flame suddenly bursting out of the darkness was indescribably magnificent It is no secret in Secessia, that this 'avenging fire' will soon be in their midst It would be impossible for gunners, infantry or cavalry to withstand a flood of fire covering one or two hundred feet at each discharge of a shell Surrender or flight must follow A ship, once penetrated by a shell filled with this terrible material, must burn, for water will not extinguish it A city can be set in full flames in ten minutes, and forests or woods, concealing camps and batteries, may be destroyed with celerity and certainty It is the opinion of Mr Short, the inventor, that Fort Donelson could have been reduced with fifty large shells charged with the Greek Fire

"Island No Ten," on the Mississippi, where a fight was going on with the rebels at last accounts, is about 45 miles below Columbus, 186 above Memphis, and 115 above Fort Pillow It is a strong position The Memphis Appeal, when referring to the probability of a stand being made at that place, said—

It completely commands the Mississippi River for miles above, and can be so fortified with heavy guns as to be made impregnable to any river attack As it is demonstrated in the late battles at Henry and Donelson that the Federal gunboats are not invulnerable to rifle cannon and heavy columbia is the position is well chosen, and with the aid of a good land force can be maintained against the approach of Foote's flotilla

The rebels have next an extensive work near the State lines separating Kentucky from Tennessee, upon which five hundred negroes under the superintendence of an able engineer officer, are said to have been set to work in September last.

Fort Pillow, a short distance below this Fort, is a strong earthwork, with bastions, walls and trenches, mounting thirty guns en barbette.

The strongest fortification in the possession of the rebels above Memphis, is Fort Randolph, 60 miles above Memphis, and 188 below Cairo

Ohio papers announce the death of a negro named Missjah Phillips, at the great age of 126 years. He came to the West in 1796, with Herman Blennerhasset, as his slave, and continued with him till he fled He was never freed. He came to Ohio soon after, and resided in Harmar for some years. He afterwards came to Watertown, where he resided for fifty years Missjah (Cajoe) was the slave of Col Borrel, of York, Gloucester County, Va At the death of Colonel Borrel, he went to his son in law, the Rev Mr Fountain, with whom he lived at the time of the battle of Yorktown, and was then a waiter in the army.

A fidgetty lady was once consulting Dr. Abernethy, the famous English physician She asked him what she should eat—whether this, that or the other would injure her

"You may eat anything," said the doctor, "except the poker and the bellows, for one is hard of digestion, and the other is supposed to be windy!"

The Merrimac, (or "Virginia,") as she has been re christened by the rebels, was originally one of the five war steamers authorised to be constructed by Congress during the session of 1844—'5 These five vessels were equal to any steam war vessels in the world, except iron–clad vessels. The spar deck of the Merrimac was 281 feet long and 52 feet broad in her original condition, and she drew 23 feet of water She rated about 4000 tons burden She rated as a 40 gun frigate, but could carry as much metal as a 90–gun ship of the old style. She carried 24 9 inch shell guns and 14 8–inch shell guns, with two pivot guns of 6 tons, each throwing 100-pound shells, mounted fore and aft. The Merrimac was first of the five to be completed, being launched in 1856 She was soon after put in commission, and continued in the service until April, 1861, when she was lying at the Norfolk Navy Yard, in need of some slight repairs But for the imbecility of those in charge she might have been removed before the rebellion actually broke out in Norfolk Under the management of Commodore Macauley, however, she and the ship of the line Pennsylvania, were scuttled and sunk, while at the same time the Navy Yard and its 2500 cannon were abandoned to the rebels Since then the Merrimac has been raised, placed upon the dry dock, and covered with an entire slanting roof of railroad iron — Above the water's edge she is said to present nothing but her roof of railroad iron, with a smoke stack rising a few feet above it From the accounts which we have of the fight, her rate of speed is quite moderate, although greater than that of the Monitor She mounted 10 100 pound Armstrong guns, which are reported to have smashed through iron mail as thick as that of the Warrior and Black Prince, but which do not appear to have made any impression on the Monitor

AN INCIDENT OF THE FORT DONELSON SURRENDER An officer in command of the Fourth Illinois Cavalry, at the battle of Fort Donelson, thus narrates

When I got back to my command, I found that one of our Lieutenants had Col Hanson, of the Kentucky Second, in custody He was a rough looking customer, dressed in citizen's dress, short, muscular and blear eyed—he looked to me as a fit person to command a band of pirates He said he wanted somebody to tell him where to march his men, as he was tired waiting He acted and talked like one having a "heap of authority," and not much like a prisoner — Finding no one to give him, immediately, the information he desired, he became sociable

"Well," said he, "you were too "hefty" for us"

"Yes, but you were well protected by these splendid defences"

"Your troops fought like tigers"

"Do you think now one Southern man can whip five Northern men?"

'Not Western men,' he replied, doggedly — Your troops are better than Yankee troops fight harder—endure more The devil and all —I can't stand before such fellows But we drove them back'

'Why did you not keep us back"

'You had too many reinforcements'

'But we had no more troops engaged in the field than you had'

'Well, you whipped us, but you have not conquered us You can never conquer the South'

'We don't wish to conquer the South, but we will restore the Stars and Stripes to Tennessee, if we have to hang ten thousand such daredevils as you are'

'Never mind, sir, you will never get to Nashville'

'Then Nashville will surrender before we start'

'Well, the old United States Government is played out—we intend to have a right government down here.'

'What am I to understand by a 'right government?'

'A government based on property, and not a d—d mechanic in it'

'Do these poor fellows all around us here who have been fighting for you, understand that they are to have no voice in this right government' you seek to establish?'

'They don't care—they have no property to protect'

I thought—confound the fellow—he is the most honest, out spoken rebel I ever saw This man is a fair type of that most active, most impudent and reckless class of men who have persistently inaugurated this war, to the destruction of every material interest of the country

At last, the prisoners were all gathered on the boats prepared for them, and then the fleet moved down the river with its rebel freight.

SENSATIONS DURING BATTLE One who has recently been in battle, and who desires to satisfy the curiosity of those who wish to know how men unaccustomed to stand fire, felt when first under it, says

I do not suppose I have much physical or moral courage, but the sensations under fire, judging from my experience, are different from what is expected

A reasoning man at first feels alarmed, and his impulse is to run away, and if he has no reason to stand he probably does run, but at each exposure he grows less timid, and after hearing canister and grape about his ears a dozen times, begins to think he is not destined to be hurt

He still feels uneasy, perhaps, but the danger becomes fascinating, and though he don't wish to be hit, he likes to have narrow escapes, and so voluntarily places himself in a position where he can incur more risk.

After a little time, he begins to reason the matter reflects upon the doctrine of probabilities, and how much powder and lead is necessarily wasted before any man is killed or wounded

Why should he be the he thinks, so much more unlucky than many other people? and he soon can hear the whizzing of bullets with a tolerable degree of equanimity, though he involuntarily dodges or tries to dodge the cannon balls or shells that go howling around his immediate neighborhood

In the afternoon he is quite a different creature from what he was in the morning, and involuntarily smiles to see a man betray the same trepidation which he himself exhibited a few hours before

The more he is exposed to fire, the better he can bear it, and the timid being of to day is the hero of to morrow, and he who runs away from danger on the first battle field will run into it on the next, and court the hazard he once so dreaded

Thus courage, as it is styled, is little more with most men than custom, and they learn to despise what has often threatened without causing them harm If wounded, they learn that wounds are less painful to bear than they had supposed, and then the doctrine of probabilities teaches them once more that they are less liable to be wounded again. So the mental process goes on, until the nerves become by degrees the subjects of will, and he only fears who has not the will to be brave

A boy and a girl of tender years were disputing as to what their mothers could do. Getting impatient the little damsel blurted out by way of a climax and clincher "Well, there is one thing my mother can do that your's can't—my mother can take every one of her teeth out at once."

The following anecdote, in a letter from Booneville, Mo, explains in part the Union demonstrations that attend the progress of the Union armies—

These Missouri niggers know a good deal more than the white folks give them credit for, and whether Missouri goes for the Confederacy or for the Union, the slaves have learned a lesson too much to ever make them useful as slaves I was struck with the apt reply of one of a crowd who came from a big house to the road to see us pass the other day Says I, "Boys are you for the Union?" "Oh, yes, massa, when you is about we is" "And when Price comes you are secesh, are you?" "Lord, yes, massa, we's good secesh then, cant allow de white folks to get ahead o' niggers in dat way" The darkey understood the whole question and the game that was played

THE MAGIC BOX The housekeeper's affairs had for a long time been becoming very much entangled, and the poor woman knew not how to do to get out of her difficulties

After a time, she bethought herself of a wise old hermit, who lived in the neighborhood, and to him she repaired for advice She related to him all her troubles, saying

'Things go on badly enough, nothing prospers, in doors or out, pray, sir, can you not devise some remedy for my misfortunes?'

The hermit—a shrewd, rosy old man,—begged her to wait, and retiring to an inner chamber of his cell, after a short time brought out a very curious looking box, carefully sealed up

'Take this,' said he, 'and keep it for one year, but you must three times a day and three times at night carry it into the kitchen, the cellar and the stable, and set it down in each corner I answer for it that shortly you will find things improved But be sure at the end of the year, to bring back the box Now, farewell'

The good woman received the precious gift with many thanks and bore it carefully home The next day, as she was carrying it into the cellar she met a servant who had been secretly drawing a pitcher of beer As she went, a little later, into the kitchen, there she found a maid making herself a supper of omelets In the stable she discovered deep in the mire, the best cow standing, and the horse uncurried, had hay instead of oats

So, every day, she discovered and corrected some new faults

At the end of the year faithful to her promise, she carried the magic box back to the hermit, and besought him to let her keep it, as it had a most wonderful effect

'Only let me keep it one year longer, and I am sure all will be remedied'

'I cannot allow you to keep the box' said the hermit, 'but the secret which is hidden with it you shall have'

He opened the box and lo, it contained nothing but a slip of paper, on which was written this couplet

Would you thrive most prosperously
Yourself must every corner see

AN UGLY CUSTOMER A wager was made a few days since on board a steamboat, between a couple of jokers, one of whom pointing to an extremely ugly man bet a bottle of wine that an uglier customer could not be produced The other, who had seen one of the firemen as he passed on board the boat—a man whose face was screwed out of all shape—at once took up the bet and started down stairs for his man — The joker had an impediment in his speech but he nevertheless soon made known his business to the fireman, and obtained his consent to show himself to decide the wager When inside the social hall, the ugly man whose nose was on one side of his face and his eyes on the other began to screw and work them about, to give his face a greater degree of ugliness 'I S a top' said his backer, 'I don t put on n–n no extras St st and just as the Lord made you—you c can't be beat" The other acknowledged that he had lost, and paid the wager

The Vote upon the Railroad Loan Bill.

By the returns below it will be seen that Bangor has decided almost unanimously against the bill to loan the city credit for the construction of a railroad from Bangor to Mattawamkeag There is no doubt that a large majority of our citizens are in favor of granting the aid of the city credit for the largest proportion of the cost of a road to that point, in order to secure the grant of State aid for the road into Aroostook county — But it was felt that the Loan Bill required more than the city could safely concede By its provisions the whole cost of the road to Mattawamkeag was liable to be thrown upon the city—and the cost may be as great as a million or a million and a half of dollars The corporators were not required even to subscribe a dollar beyond $50 000, and this small sum was not required to be paid in, while at the same time they would have the whole control of the charter and the road In the present condition of business, and with a great war tax coming upon us for a term of years, there was a general conviction that the risk was too much to be taken If the bill had provided for a paid up and expended subscription of $150,000 or $200,000, the vote would have been in its favor by more than the requisite two thirds The friends of the road made no effort in favor of the bill

The following is the vote as thrown:

	Yes	No

" 3,	3	175
" 4,	5	118

Legislature of Maine.

FRIDAY March 14

SENATE

Bill in aid of destitute families, upon which the two Houses disagreed, came back from the House, that body voting to adhere to certain amendments. Mr Farwell moved that the Senate recede and concur

Mr Peters was most decidedly opposed to concurrence The House has, by its amendments, effectually and thoroughly killed every vital and valuable principle in the bill As amended it was a worthless thing

Mr Harlow thought, under all the circumstances and as an act of simple justice to our volunteers that we should pass this bill as it has come from the House

The vote on Mr Farwell's motion was taken by yeas and nays and resulted as follows—Yeas 15, nays 11

So the Senate receded, and passed the bill to be engrossed in concurrence

Bill providing for the reorganization of the State Militia, amended by striking out all except first four sections, came from the House passed to be engrossed

After remarks by Senators, the bill was laid upon the table

The vote was taken on indefinite postponement and lost

SATURDAY March 15

SENATE

The Militia Bill was taken up

The question being on the amendment of the House to strike out all of the bill except the first four sections

Mr Farwell opposed the amendment as rendering the bill of no effect He thought some bill should be passed in order that the State might draw its quota of arms from the United States

Mr Vinton opposed the entire bill He was convinced that there was no necessity for this or any Militia Bill this year He supported his views at length He closed by moving a reference of the whole subject to the next Legislature

Messrs Blunt, Roberts and Tucker advocated the two section amendment, after which the matter was tabled

Passed Finally—Resolve in relation to the Penobscot and Passamaquoddy Indians resolve relating to National Affairs

The militia bill was taken up

Mr Vinton withdrew his motion to refer to the next Legislature

The Senate refused to concur with the House amendment striking out all out the first four sections

Mr Harlow moved to amend by striking out all after the tenth section Adopted

The bill then passed to be engrossed

The bill to amend section 25 of chapter 6 of the Revised Statutes relating to taxes increasing the poll tax.) The Senate reconsidered the vote passing the bill to be engrossed

Mr Roberts discussed the bill and moved an amendment to exempt soldiers from the provisions of the act Subsequently withdrawn to allow Mr Harlow to offer an amendment exempting soldiers altogether from paying a poll tax The amendment was rejected

Mr Roberts then renewed his former motion which was debated both as to its legality and its expediency after which the amendment was adopted and the bill passed

HOUSE

On motion of Mr Furbish of Brunswick bill an act to set off a part of the town of Frankfort and annex the same to the town of Winterport was taken up, the question being on its passage to be engrossed

Mr Furbish made a statement of the reasons which induced a majority of the Committee to report as they had the bill under consideration having been reported by the minority of the Committee had been substituted for the majority report

Mr Sewall of Oldtown moved the indefinite postponement of the bill

Mr Bean of Lee on the part of the minority Committee gave the reasons why they had reported the bill

Mr Sewall of Oldtown spoke in favor of indefinite postponement

Mr Strickland of Bangor opposed it

Mr Gilman of Bangor spoke at some length in favor of indefinite postponement

Mr Bradbury of Eastport moved that the bill be laid upon the table, and the House proceed to the consideration of an act to amend an act for the consolidation of certain railroads especially assigned

Mr Sewall moved that the tax act be considered immediately after the consideration of the railroad act

The railroad consolidation was considered

Mr Eaton of Winslow moved to amend

Mr Bradbury spoke against amendment

Mr Hayden advocated amendment.

Mr Strickland opposed amendment

Mr Gilman of Bath considered the scheme attempted to be perpetrated by the gentlemen in favor of the majority report upon the State was one of the great humbugs and one of the most unjust ever perpetrated upon a State He advocated the amendment

Mr Lynch of Portland spoke at some length in opposition to the amendment.

Mr Gilman moved that the matter be referred to the next Legislature with order of notice

Mr Milliken of Waterville spoke in opposition to the amendment.

Mr Barrows of Fryeburg opposed reference to next Legislature and advocated the passage of the bill in concurrence with the Senate

Mr Blake of Bangor argued on the same side and presented the case of the 2d mortgage bond holders

Mr Sewall of Oldtown explained his reasons for voting in favor of striking out the ninth section — it being substantially that a grant had been made by the Legislature and the Court has decided, and he believed decided rightfully

Mr Bradbury of Eastport, moved the previous question.

Mr Cary of Houlton addressed the House in favor of the "good old democratic doctrine in favor of not legislating away the rights of the people in granting charters"

The main question was ordered

The amendment offered by Mr Eaton was in order, and Mr Gilman of Bath moved and the House ordered the yeas and nays—yeas 21, nays 90

Passed to be engrossed.

AFTERNOON SESSION

On motion of Mr Barrows of Fryeburg bill designating where the Legislature of 1863 shall meet was taken from the table.

Mr Cary moved that the bill be laid on the table

On motion of Mr Kimball of Bethel, the yeas and nays were ordered, and the bill was laid on the table—yeas 61, nays 43.

On motion of Eaton of Winslow, the vote passing to be engrossed the Tax Act, was reconsidered

Mr Eaton objected to the proposition to tax owners of bank and corporate stock who are not residents of the State. He proposed an amendment striking out the principle of taxing banks and corporations.

Mr Sewall of Oldtown explained the bill, and the reasons for reporting it, and opposed the amendment.

Mr Manson of Bangor advocated the bill. He spoke of the bank stock of Bangor, and the large amount purporting to be owned out of the State, but believed to be owned in Bangor The bill might operate with severity in some few cases, but the general operation of the bill would be favorable He hoped the amendment would be voted down, and the bill be passed.

Motion to amend negatived.

Mr Bradbury of Eastport moved to amend so as to allow an abatement to all bona fide owners of stock who are not residents of the State.

Mr Sewall of Oldtown spoke of the issue presented by the amendment, whether he tax [illegible] of non-residents or not. He opposed the principle of exempting non-residents from taxation.

Further Particulars of the Capture of Newbern — Gallant fighting of Burnside's Men—Later from Europe.

NEW YORK, 19th

The following are the details of the Newbern battle

Com Rowan was in command of the fleet of gunboats, and had sunken vessels, torpedoes, and other rebel obstructions to overcome and pass, but surmounted all with but slight damage to only two of his fifteen vessels

Three barques, two brigs and nineteen schooners were sunk by the rebels above two rebel batteries The latter was silenced

The sunken vessels passed, "Old Glory" being hoisted over the silenced batteries as our forces went along This was on Saturday p m and night closed in

On Sunday morning a heavy fog set in but lifted and our boats passed up safely and silenced Fort Thompson with its two heavy columbiads

Old Glory was again hoisted Then Fort Ellis with nine guns, was captured after pretty brisk fighting, but the rebels fled in a panic and Old Glory waved over another rebel fort. Only one fort was left to be engaged, and Newbern would be at the mercy of our troops This was fort Lane but the rebels had had enough of the boats and offered little if any resistance, and fled

The rebels then fired a large number of scows filled with rosin and turpentine intending to float them down and burn our gunboats, but they got stuck and burnt away furiously, consuming only their own combustibles

The gunboats then shelled the depot and railroad track but our troops had then crossed and a white flag was hoisted Our navy did not lose a man

The operations on land were briefly as follows Our troops landed twelve miles below Newbern, Gen Reno's brigade in the advance, most of the troops being so anxious to land that nearly every regiment jumped into the water and waded ashore, and the whole division was ashore in less than two hours

After marching two miles they found a deserted camp with fires burning, and hot rebel breakfasts untasted A breastwork was also passed, and the division bivouacked for the night

Early next morning, 14th, skirmishing commenced. Foster's brigade, comprising the Mass. 24th 25th, 27th, 23d, with the 10th Connecticut in reserve, were in line and engaged the twenty gun battery of rebels on the left flank who showered grape, cannister and shell upon them with heavy musketry from their infantry

The second brigade, comprising the 21st Massachusetts 51st N Y, 51st Penn, and 9th N J engaged them on the right, and Gen Parke's third brigade took a position in front The first brigade bore the brunt of the battle, and the 24th Mass soon had Maj Stevenson and Lieut Horton wounded, and the 24th Mass, lost Col. Merritt by a cannon ball carrying away one side of his body

The 10th Connecticut were ordered to support the 24th Massachusetts, which had suffered severely The 2d brigade, together with the 2d, executed a flank movement, and the order to charge bayonets was given A hand to hand fight ensued of the most desperate character, when our troops drove the rebels out of the works at the point of the bayonet, chasing them out of sight

When the word charge was given, our troops gave a tremendous cheer and dashed to the muzzles of the rebel guns, the traitors ingloriously retreating in many instances. The rebels took possession of a railroad train and fled from Newbern though closely pursued, burning the bridge the Washington House, some private dwellings and a number of whiskey and turpentine distilleries Slaves had commenced pillaging but were stopped A considerable number of Union men were found in the city

The following is Gen Burnside's congratulatory address to his troops,

General Order No 17
HEADQUARTERS Department North Carolina,
Newbern, March, 15th, 1862

The General commanding congratulates his troops on their brilliant and hard won victory of the 14th, their courage, their patience, their endurance of fatigue cannot be too highly praised After a tedious march, dragging their howitzers by hand through swamps and thickets, after a sleepless night, passed in a drenching rain they met the enemy in his chosen position, found him protected by strong earthworks, mounting many and heavy guns, and in an open field themselves they conquered With such soldiers advance is victory The General commanding directs, with peculiar pride, that, as a well deserved tribute to the valor in this second victory of the expedition that each regiment engaged shall inscribe on its banner the memorable name "Newbern"

By command of Brig Gen A E Burnside

The London Times admits the recent successes of the Federals, and their importance, but says they have been gained in countries where the allegiance of the population was divided, and that they have scarce brought the Federal Government any nearer than before to the reconstruction of the Union

The Morning Post hopes that both the Unionists and the Secessionists will look upon the present state of affairs as affording grounds of compromise, as the conquest of the South is beyond attainment on one hand, and a complete independence may be beyond the power of the South

Cyrus W Field had an interview with Earl Russell recently, at the foreign office, in regard to connecting Europe and America by a cable from Ireland to Newfoundland It is understood to have been satisfactory and encouraging The annual meeting of the Atlantic Telegraph Company will be held in London on the 18th of March, to receive the Directors' Report

Excitement and violence attended the election of the member of Parliament for Longford, Ireland The military were called out and charged on the rioters several times. No lives were lost, but many injuries were received

The Paris Bourse on the 5th was flat and lower

The Emperor had sent a quarter of a million francs out of the privy purse for the relief of industrial workmen at great industrial centres

Mr Layard stated in the House of Commons, in reply to inquiries, that an officer of the Sumter named Myres, accompanied by a Mr Thompson of Cadiz, landed at Tangiers from a French merchant vessel, and were arrested by the United States Consul, who requested the assistance of the Moorish troops for the purpose. He was not aware that any pressure had been put on the Moorish Government, and Myres and Thompson have since been released

Lord Palmerston in response to inquiries, said the Government originally intended sending a much larger force to Canada than that dispatched, and it was only in consequence of the representations of the colonial authorities that the number was reduced. He believed that the promptitude, vigor and power displayed had tended greatly to a peaceful solution of the difficulty with America.

The steamer Bermuda finally left Liverpool on the 1st, for Bermuda, with a large general cargo, including a considerable quantity under the designation of hardware, believed to be destined for the Southern States

It is stated that Mr Peabody quits England with a fortune of 70,000 pounds sterling per annum

It is reported that Smith O'Brien has challenged Sir Robert Peel, offering to meet him in France or Belgium

WASHINGTON, 19th

General Burnside, in his official report, says

I must defer for want of time a detailed account of the action It is enough to say that after an engagement of four hours we succeeded in carrying a continuous line of field works over a mile in length, protected on the river bank by a battery of 13 heavy guns and on the opposite bank by a line of redoubts one-half a mile in length for riflemen and field pieces, in the midst of swamps and dense forests, which line of works was defended by eight regiments of infantry, 500 cavalry, three batteries of field artillery of six guns each

The position was finally carried by a most gallant charge of our men, which enabled us to gain the rear of all the batteries between this point and Newberne, which was done by a rapid advance of the entire force up the main road and railroad The naval fleet in the meantime was pushing its way up the river, throwing hot shot into the forts in front of us

The rebels, after retreating in confusion, throwing away blankets, knapsacks, arms, &c, across the railroad bridge and country road bridge, burning the former and destroying the draw of the latter, thus preventing further pursuit, and causing a detention in occupying the town by our forces, but the naval force had reached the wharves, and commanded it by their guns

I at once advanced General Foster's brigade to take possession of the town The city was set on fire by the retreating rebels in many places, but the remaining citizens and naval officers, extinguished the flames with but little damage

Many of the citizens are now returning, and and were in quiet possession of the city We have captured a press and shall at once issue a daily paper

By this victory we have captured eight batteries containing 46 heavy guns, three light batteries of six guns each—in all 64 guns, two steamboats, a number of sailing vessels, wagons, a large quantity of ammunition, commissary and quartermasters' stores, forage, and the entire camp equipage of the rebel troops, a large quantity of cotton, turpentine, rosin, and over 200 prisoners Our loss thus far ascertained amounts to 91 killed and 466 wounded—many mortally

Among these are some of our most gallant officers and men The rebel loss is severe, but not so great as ours, they being effectually covered by their works.

FLAG SHIP WABASH,
Off St Augustine, Fla., March 18

Sir—Having on the 7th despatched a division of my force to hold Brunswick, consisting of the Mohican, Pocahontas, and Potomac, under Com Gordon, I shifted my flag from the first named vessel to the Pawnee, and organized another squadron of light draft vessels embracing the four regular gunboats Ottawa, Seneca, Pembina and Huron, and the Isaac Smith and Ellen, under Lieut commanding Stevens, to proceed without delay to the mouth of St. John river, cross if possible its difficult and shallow bar, feel the forts, if still held, and, push on to Jacksonville —indeed, to go as far as Pilatka, 80 miles beyond, to reconnoiter and capture river steamers This expedition was to be accompanied by the armed launches and cutters of the Wabash, under Lieutenants Irwin and Barnes, and by the light draft transports with the 7th N H regiment

After arranging with Brig Gen. Wright our joint occupation of the Florida and Georgia coasts, including protection from injury to the mansion and grounds of Dungeness on Cumberland Island, originally the property of the revolutionary hero and patriot, Gen. Greene, and still owned by his descendants, and leaving Commander Percival Drayton in charge of the naval force, I rejoined this ship, waiting for me off Fernandina, and proceeded with her off St. Johns, arriving there on the 1[illegible].

The gunboats had not yet been able to cross the bar, but expected to do so [illegible] the Ellen only getting in that evening, as at Nassau, which was visited by Lieutenant Commanding Stevens on his way down The forts seemed to be abandoned

There being no probability that the Huron could enter, I despatched her off St Augustine, where I followed her, arriving on the 11th I immediately sent on shore Commander C R P Rodgers with a flag of truce, having reason to believe that if there were any people on this coast likely to remain in their houses, it would be at St Augustine

I endorse Commander Rodger's most interesting report, which I am sure the department will read with satisfaction

The American flag is flying once more over that old city, raised by the hands of its own people, who resisted the appeals, threats and falsehoods of their leaders, though compelled to witness the carrying off of their sons in the ranks of the flying enemy

This gives us possession of a second national fort, of strength and importance

Since writing the above, I have received by Isaac Smith, a report from Lieutenant Commanding Stevens, of his operations in the St John's river, giving details of great interest

From Lieutenant Commanding Nicholas, I learn with regret of acts of Vandalism on the part of the rebel commanders—not the people—in setting fire to vast quantities of lumber, and the saw mills in that region owned by Northern men supposed to have Union sympathies

In all the varied and difficult service, having to contend with surf shores, dangerous bars and inland navigation in an enemy's country, I think it due to the officers and men under my command, to say, that on all occasions they have displayed great spirit and ability, fully coming up to my requirements and expectations

Very respectfully,
S F DUPONT, Flag Officer
To Hon Gideon Wells, Secretary of the Navy

U S FLAG SHIP WABASH, off St Augustine, March 12th

SIR Having crossed the bar with some difficulty, in obedience to your orders I approached St Augustine under a flag of truce, and as I drew near the city, a white flag was hoisted up on one of the bastions of Fort Marion Landing at the wharf and enquiring for the chief authorities, I was soon joined by the Mayor and conducted to the City Hall, where the municipal authorities were assembled I informed them that, having come to restore the authority of the United States, you had deemed it more kind to send an unarmed boat to inform the citizens of your determination, than to occupy the town at once by force of arms, that you was desirous to calm all apprehensions of harsh treatment that might exist in their midst, and that you should carefully respect the persons and property of all citizens who submitted to the authority of the United States, that you had a single purpose to restore the state of affairs which existed before the rebellion

I informed the municipal authorities that so long as they respected the authority of the Government we serve, and acted in good faith, municipal affairs would be left in their own hands, so far as might be consistent with the exigencies of the times.

The Mayor and Council then informed me that place had been evacuated the previous night by two companies of Florida troops, and that they gladly received the assurances I gave them, and placed the town in my hands.

I recommended them to hoist the flag of the Union at once, and in prompt accordance with the advice by order of the Mayor, the National Ensign was displayed from the flag staff of the Fort

The Mayor proposed to turn over to me the five cannon mounted on the fort, which are in good condition, and not spiked, also a few munitions of war left by the retreating enemy, I desired him to take charge of them for the present, to make a careful inventory and establish a patrol and guard, informing him that he would be held responsible for the place until our forces should enter the harbor

I called upon the clergymen of the city, requesting them to reassure their people and to confide in our kind intentions towards them

About 1500 persons remain in St Augustine, one fifth of the inhabitants having fled I believe that there are many citizens who are earnestly attached to the Union, a large number who silently opposed to it, and a still larger number who care very little about the matter

I think that nearly all the men acquiesce in the condition of affairs we are now establishing There is much violent and pestilent feeling among the women They seem to mistake treason for courage, and have a theatrical desire to figure as heroines Their minds have doubt less been filled with the falsehoods so industriously circulated in regard to the lust and hatred of our troops On the night before our arrival, a party of women assembled in front of the barracks and cut down the flagstaff in order that it might not be used to support the old flag The men seemed anxious to conciliate in every way

There is a great scarcity of provisions in the place There seems to be no money except the miserable paper currency of the rebellion and much poverty exists

In the water battery at the fort are three fine army 32 pounders of seven thousand pounds, and two 8 inch sea coast howitzers of 5600 pounds, with shot and some powder There are a number of very old guns in the fort, useless and not mounted Several good guns were taken away some months ago to arm batteries at other harbors

The garrison of the place went from St Augustine at midnight on the 10th, for Smyrna, where there are said to be about 800 troops, a battery, the steamer Caroline, and a considerable quantity of arms and ammunition

It is very positively stated that the Governor has ordered the abandonment of East Florida and proposes to make a stand near Apalachicola

Mr Dennis, of the Coast Survey, who accompanied me, rendered me much valuable aid

I have the honor to be very respectfully,
C R P ROGERS, Commander,
To Flag Officer S F Dupont, Commanding South Atlantic Blockading squadron

A despatch from Flag Officer Dupont, dated March 15th, off St Augustine, contains the following

Further information from the St Johns river is satisfactory The burning of valuable mills and lumber, with the fine hotel at Jacksonville and the house of Mr Robinson, a Union man, was by order of rebel General Trapier, who, after ingloriously flying with his forces from the town, with every considerable means of defence at hand, sent a large detachment back for this incendiary purpose on discovering that our gunboats had not been able, on their first arrival, to cross the bar

An official despatch from Lieut com'd'g Stevens announces the capture Jacksonville.

U S STEAMER CRUSADER,
NORTH EDISTO, 3d

Sir—On the 23d ultimo I received information that the enemy was building a battery at Bear Bluff, opposite White Point On the night of the 24th, accompanied by Lieut. Prentiss, I went up in our dingui, with three men, and we landed without being discovered by the guard Lieut. Prentiss and I went up, and found the battery in an unfinished state, and looking about us, discovered the magazine We found the picket guard asleep in it, got one musket out from beside them without awaking them, returned to the boat, and brought up two of the men to secure them. In doing so, I regret to say one of them was shot through the head and instantly killed, the pistol going off in my hand accidentally in the struggle. We carried both to the boat, and escaped without discovery. The picket guard that night consisted of 15 infantry and two mounted men, in command of a lieutenant; as the surviving prisoner states. We carried the other man [illegible] in name of the [illegible] regiment. His name was [illegible] Wilson, Co. C. [illegible] stationed at Church Flats. The other now on board of this vessel, is William M Evans, from Roburn county, Ga, of the same company.

According to his account there are two regiments at Church Flats, sending pickets out regularly to Rockville Bear Bluff and other points on the east side of the river Their men are ill fed, not paid or clothed, and badly treated.—Wilson was from Picken's District, S C The muskets we have taken from them are of the Enfield pattern Both cartridge boxes contained Ely's London stamped cartridges

Very respectfully, your ob'd't serv't
A C RHIND,
Lieutenant Commanding
To Flag Officer Dupont.

WASHINGTON, 19th

General Burnside closes his report as follows

"I beg to say to the General commanding the army that I have endeavored to carry out, very minute, the instructions given me by him before leaving Annapolis and thus far events have been singularly coincident with his anticipations I only hope that we may in future be able to carry out in detail the remaining plans of the campaign The only thing I have to regret is the delay caused by the elements"

WASHINGTON, 19th

WASHINGTON, 19th

SENATE

Mr Morrill introduced a bill to provide for the public defence, and accept loans from the States for that purpose Referred

The bill abolishing slavery in the District of Columbia was taken up

Mr Doolittle spoke in favor of the bill

After a speech from Mr Pomeroy favoring the bill, the Senate went into executive session

Adjourned

HOUSE.

The House resumed the tax bill

The House acted on all the general provisions, 40 in number, without important amendments

Mr Wickliffe of Kentucky offered an amendment exempting slaves from direct taxation Rejected

The House then considered the sections relative to licenses and taxes on spirits, ale, beer and porter, but made little progress.

Adjourned

RICH SCENE IN THE WHEELING LEGISLATURE. Immediately previous to adjournment, the following rather rich proceeding transpired Mr Ratcliffe offered a resolution proposing to ascertain if the Senate would accept the ten commandments, without amendment, if first passed by the House He remarked that no proposition from the House had ever gone to the Senate without coming back amended. He desired before the adjournment to submit something that would meet their approbation The Speaker appointed Mr Ratcliffe to communicate the passage of the resolution to the Senate Mr R accordingly picked up the resolution, and amidst great laughter proceeded to the Senate chamber He subsequently returned and reported to the House that the Senate insisted that there were thirteen commandments, and refused therefore to accept the House resolution without amendment!

NOT YET DECIDED A traveler once stopped at a public house for the purpose of getting dinner Dismounting at the front door, he knocked, but received no answer. Going to the other side of the house he found a little white headed man in the embrace of his wife, who had his head under her arm, while with the other she was giving her lord a poundin. Wishing to put an end to the fight, the traveler knocked on the side of the house, and cried out in a loud voice, "Hallo, here, who keeps this house?" The [illegible], though much out of breath, answered, "Stranger, that [illegible] we are trying to decide."

NO POST MISTRESSES. It has been officially settled at the Post Office Department that the title of Postmaster is the only one to be known or recognized, whether applied to male or female officials in charge of post offices We have at the present time several hundred lady postmasters in the government employ In the course of a pretty long experience, we have yet to learn the first instance where one of the softer sex has been convicted of mail robbery We have sometimes begun to tremble, in view of the indications which seemed likely to involve some one or more of the sisterhood in a charge of dishonesty and require the services of the United States Marshal, but somehow or other, the dear creatures came out all right, the investigation placing the criminality upon other shoulders.

COULDN'T FIND IT OUT Mr Slocum was not educated in a university, and his life has been in by paths, and out of the way places. His mind is characterized by the literalness, rather than the comprehensive grasp of great subjects

Mr Slocum can, however, master a printed paragraph, by dint of spelling the hard words, in a deliberate manner, and manages to gain a few glimpses of men and things, from his little rocky farm, through the medium of a newspaper

It is quite edifying to hear Mr Slocum reading the village paper aloud to his wife, after a hard day's work A few evenings since, farmer Slocum was reading an account of a dreadful accident, which happened at the factory in the next town, and which the village editor had described in a great many words.

'I declare, wife, that was an awful accident over to the mill,' said Mr Slocum

'What was it about?

'I'll read the 'count, wife, then you'll know all about it'

Mr S began to read

'Horrible and Fatal Accident —It becomes our melancholy and painful duty, to record the particulars of an accident that occurred at the lower mill, in this village, yesterday afternoon, by which a human being in the prime of life, was hurried to that bourne from which as the immortal Shakspear says, 'no traveler returns'

'Du tell!' exclaimed Mrs S

'Mr David Jones, a workman who has but few superiors this side of the city, was superintending one of the large drums—

'I wonder if 'twas a brass drum such as has 'Ebluabust Unum' printed on it,' said Mrs Slocum

'When he became entangled His arm was drawn around the drum, and finally his whole body was drawn over the shaft, at a fearful rate When his situation was discovered, he had revolved with immense velocity, about fifteen minutes, his head and limbs striking a large beam a distinct blow at each revolution

'Poor creetur! how it must have hurt him!

'When the machinery had been stopped, it was found that Mr Jones arms and legs were macerated to a jelly

'Did it kill him, asked Mrs S with increasing interest

'Portions of the dura matter, cerebrum and cerebellum in confused masses, were scattered about the floor, in short, the gates of eternity had opened upon him

Here Mr. Slocum paused to wipe his spectacles, and the wife seized the opportunity to press the question

'Was the man killed?

'I don't know—havn't come to that place yet, you'll know when I've finished the piece

He continued reading—

'It was evident when the shapeless form was taken down, that it was no longer tenanted by the immortal spirit—that the vital spark was extinct

'Was the man killed? that's what I want to know, said Mrs. Slocum

'Do have a little patience old woman, said Mr Slocum, eyeing his better half over his spectacles, 'I presume we shall come upon it right away'

He went on reading—

'This fatal casualty has cast a gloom over our village and we trust it will prove a warning to all persons called upon to regulate the powerful machinery of our mills

'Now, said Mrs Slocum perceiving that the narrative was ended, now I should like to know whether the man was killed or not

Mr Slocum looked puzzled He scratched his head, scrutinized the article he had been perusing and took a graceful survey of the paper

'I declare, wife, said he, it's curious, but the paper don't say

BOOTS AND SHOES

MADE ON

PLUMER'S PATENT ANATOMICAL LASTS!

[From J. V. C. Smith, M. D., formerly Mayor of Boston.]

PLUMER'S PATENT BOOTS.

The Undersigned has worn a pair of these Ingenious Boots, and feels grateful to the Inventor for the comfort derived from them. The nice adjustment of the sole to every part of the under surface of the foot, is an important circumstance which seems to have been entirely overlooked till Dr. Plumer planned his Last and Boot upon truly scientific principles.

Those who have once had an opportunity to test the real advantages of these Philosophically made Boots, will hardly be reconciled to wear any other.

J. V. C. SMITH.

Boston, July 26, 1861.

J. C. PLUMER, M. D.,

Dear Sir—I am greatly delighted with your newly invented boots which I have worn during the past winter, and only wonder that the world should have been so stupid as not to have made the discovery half a century ago. Any one with a grain of common sense and a moment's reflection, cannot fail to see that your "PATENT BOOTS AND SHOES" are perfectly adapted to the foot, that wonderful piece of Nature's Mechanism, giving to every portion of it a firm and equal support, and I am sure that those who once make trial of your new invention will never go back to the old fashioned boots or shoes, which are so prolific of Corns, Bunions and a thousand other troubles. Your "Patent Boots" seems to be part and parcel of our Physical structure, supporting the foot equally, giving steadiness to the gait, and promoting its comfort to an eminent degree, especially in walking over rough surfaces.

I wish I knew of some means by which I could make known to every man, woman and child in Christendom, the nature and importance of your invention.

Very truly yours,
[illegible] HARRIS MATTSON, M. D.

[illegible], July [illegible]

DR. PLUMER—

Dear Sir—Having learned the principle upon which your "Anatomical Last" is made, I was favorably impressed as to its adaptedness in relieving the difficulty which all have experienced who have to walk considerably, [illegible] severe pain in the feet after much walking. After having worn [illegible] made upon the "Anatomical Last," I [illegible] than realized [illegible] I can walk nearly all day without experiencing the annoyance of [illegible] in the least degree. I have escaped the torture [illegible] of breaking in my boots, for they were as easy at first as after they had been worn.

DR. SWEET'S

Infallible Liniment!

—THE—

Great External Remedy

For Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Stiff Neck and Joints, Sprains, Bruises, Cuts and Wounds, Piles, Headache, and all Rheumatic and Nervous Disorders.

FOR all of which it is a speedy and certain remedy, and never fails. This Liniment is prepared from the recipe of Dr. Stephen Sweet, of Connecticut, the famous bone setter, and has been used in his practice for more than twenty years with the most astonishing success.

AS AN ALLEVIATOR OF PAIN, it is unrivaled by any preparation before the public, of which the most skeptical may be convinced by a single trial.

This Liniment will cure rapidly and radically, RHEUMATIC DISORDERS of every kind, and in thousands of cases where it has been used it has never been known to fail.

FOR NEURALGIA, it will afford immediate relief in every case, however distressing.

It will relieve the worst cases of HEADACHE in three minutes and is warranted to do it.

TOOTHACHE also will it cure instantly.

FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY AND GENERAL LASSITUDE arising from imprudence or excess, this Liniment is a most happy and unfailing remedy. Acting directly upon the nervous tissues, it strengthens and revivifies the system, and restores it to elasticity and vigor.

FOR PILES.—As an external remedy, we claim that it is the best known, and we challenge the world to produce an equal. Every victim of this distressing complaint should give it a trial, for it will not fail to afford immediate relief, and in a majority of cases will effect a radical cure.

QUINSY AND SORE THROAT are sometimes extremely malignant and dangerous, but a timely application of this Liniment will never fail to cure.

SPRAINS are sometimes very obstinate, and enlargement of the joints is liable to occur if neglected. The worst case may be conquered by this Liniment in two or three days.

BRUISES, CUTS, WOUNDS, SORES, ULCERS, BURNS AND SCALDS, yield readily to the wonderful healing properties of DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, when used according to directions. Also, CHILBLAINS, FROSTED FEET, and INSECT BITES AND STINGS.

Every Horse Owner

should have this remedy at hand, for its timely use at the first appearance of Lameness will effectually prevent those formidable diseases to which all horses are liable, and which render so many otherwise valuable horses nearly worthless.

Over four hundred voluntary testimonials to the wonderful curative powers of this Liniment have been received within the last two years, and many of them from persons in the highest ranks of life.

CAUTION.

To avoid imposition, observe the signature and likeness of Dr. Stephen Sweet on every label, and also "Stephen Sweet's Infallible Liniment" blown in the glass of each bottle, without which none are genuine.
